Research seminar on Greek fragmentary texts (MT 2022)

Convenors: Lucia Prauscello (Oxford) and Daniela Colomo (University Federico II, Naples)

Please find below the programme for the Research Seminar on Greek Fragmentary Texts, MT 2022. The event will be held remotely (via MS Teams) for the duration of term. The meetings will take place every Tuesday at 5.30-7.00 pm. To receive the link, please email: lucia.prauscello@all-souls.ox.ac.uk and daniela.colomo@unina.it. Everyone is welcome and we look forward to it.

Tue. 5.30-7 pm

11 October
ELENA CHEPEL (University of Vienna): ‘Musical and dramatic contests in Alexandria: a new papyrus from Deir el-Banat and Ptolemaic festival culture’

18 October
FEDERICA NICOLARDI (University Federico II, Naples): ‘Rereading some passages from P.Herc. 1044 (Life of Philonides)’

25 October
MARK DE KREIJ (Raboud Universiteit, Nijmegen) and WILLIAM FURLEY (Ruprecht-Karls-Universität, Heidelberg): ‘Curious verses in an unpublished Oxyrhynchus papyrus (P.Oxy. inv. 42 5B.77/A)’

1 November
IAN RUTHERFORD (University of Reading): ‘Holy Egyptian Moly: Lost elegiacs from the Osireion at Abydos’

8 November
FILIPPOMARIA PONTANI (Ca’ Foscari, Venice): ‘Throbbing between two lines: Odyssey scholia to the Apologoi’

15 November
CARMINE AMPOLO (Scuola Normale Superiore, Pisa) and EMILIO ROSAMILIA (University of Perugia): ‘New fragmentary ὅδαι from the West: the early fifth-century BC Tabula Cauloniensis’

22 November
GIANFRANCO AGOSTI (University of Pisa) ‘Greek verse inscriptions in Christian Egypt’

29 November
GIAMBATTISTA D’ALESSIO (University Federico II, Naples): ‘On the London papyrus of Pindar’s Parthenia’